REED TO RESIGN

The Speaker Preparing to Resign From Congress.

Private Secretary Amos L. Allen Making a Canvass for the Sea.

GRAND BEACH, Me., Aug. 19.—Speaker Thomas B. Reed has told his constituents to go ahead and make ready for the election of his successor. His private secretary, Amos L. Allen, was a candidate for the Republican nomination from his district. After a long interview with the speaker, Mr. Allen announces that he is in the field to stay. Not only is secretary Allen pushing his canvass, but other friends of the speaker are acting on the understanding, which, they say, they have obtained direct, that no such possibility as that of Mr. Reed holding on to his seat need be entertained.

Members of the Republican district committee and the town committee throughout the district have begun antelection work. The expectation is that the resignation will be sent by Mr. Reed to the governor about September 1.

DREYFUS' CASE

The Antis Had Their Inning In the Trial Today, the Court Calling Some

VERY POSITIVE WITNESSES

The Prisoner Denied One of the Witnesses and Made Him Modify His Testimony

COURT RESUMES NEXT MONDAY

RENNES, France, Aug. 19.—Captain Guget, aid de camp in the war office, was the first witness before the Dreyfus court-martial today. Guget was the man who discovered the Henry forger, and who also testified before the court of cassation as to the bad faith of a part of the Foreign Office in tampering with a despatch to incriminate Dreyfus. Notwithstanding this record, Guget began his testimony with a long speech denouncing Dreyfus. This lasted until Dreyfus raised his hand in protest. The witness showed remarkable familiarity with the spy system of Europe. He referred to the secret agents by letters of the alphabet so his testimony sounded like a proposition in algebra. Guget claimed there were hundreds of letters incriminating Dreyfus, including the letter from Schneider, the Australian military attaché, whose reputation of the letter attributed to him declaring Dreyfus' dealings with Germany was one of the sensational developments of the trial. Guget claimed this reproduction was from Schneider, under examination. From his testimony witness differed. "ation by with before the court of cassation," said Dreyfus. "I am as convinced as before," said Boissier, "that Dreyfus and not Esterhazy wrote the bordereau that Dreyfus is guilty as charged."

General Guget was the next witness. He also said he was sure Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. Dreyfus questioned Guget about the latter's assertions that he (Dreyfus) spied on the war department. He argued it was a physical impossibility for him to have done certain things at the time and place stated. Guget finally admitted these things, but insisted it was possible. The court then adjourned until Monday.

The course of today's evidence is regarded as unfavorable to Dreyfus. The antis are increasingly confident of conviction.

LIGHT TENDER FIRED.

He Didn't Quit the Government and Was Discharged.

Deputy U. S. Marshal La Rue is in receipt of a letter from Inspector Heim, of Memphis, stating that Jas. A. Irby has been appointed keeper of the government light at Wolf Island, to succeed Jim Woodward and his wife. Wolf Island is below Cairo, Ill.

LOST THE TAX BOOK.

Deputy Sheriff Uterback Met With a Misfortune Yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff R. C. Uterback yesterday afternoon lost the county tax book, or else it was stolen from his buggy. The last he remembered of it he had it under his arm at Tenth and Tremble. A flagman near by reported that he saw a small boy running away with a red book, but the officer could not find it.

The tax book was this morning found in Major T. E. Moss' office where it had been left by accident.

WEIGHED 640 POUNDS.

COLDWATER, Mich., August 19.—Mrs. Frank Whitlock, who was probably the largest woman in the country, is dead at her home, just west of this city. She weighed 640 pounds.

MERIT EXPECTED.

HOTEL CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., August 19.—General Merritt is expected here this evening for a conference with President McKinley.

Dr. Edwards, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, Paducah.

SUES THE CITY

Mrs. Glisson Wants $2,000 Damages and an Injunction.

Objects to the Pest House—Other Suits Were Filed Today.

Mrs. Naunie Glisson, through her attorneys, Bishop & Hendrick, this afternoon filed suit in the circuit court against the city of Paducah for $2,000 damages and an injunction restraining the city from longer maintaining its pest house where it is now located, adjacent to her property near the Illinois river.

She alleges that she is the owner of 14 acres of land occupied as a home, and that the small pest house at the pest house is a nuisance and contaminates the entire locality.

Mrs. Glisson is the woman who closed the road leading to the pest house when small pest was present several months ago, and with who the city had so much trouble.

James Lang, administrator, this afternoon filed suit in the circuit court against D. B. Anderson and others to settle up the estate of the late D. C. Williams.

Mrs. Willie M. Willis this afternoon filed suit against the Paducah Building and Loan Association, for $87.58, claimed to have been overcharged and paid by her.

An appeal case from Judge Tully's court was filed in the circuit court. The style of it is Joe Q. Stanford against C. E. Beall.

PUBLIC PRINTER.

Mr. Robertson, of the News, is Loth to Step Out.

Yesterday Mr. J. E. Robertson, of the News, was elected by the council public printer, accompanied by Attorney T. E. Moss, and J. D. McQuinn, called on Mayor Lang, and Mr. Robertson wanted to know by what authority the mayor had appointed him.

J. R. Lemmon, of the Leader, public printer. He said he had not resigned, and did not propose to be kicked out.

The mayor replied that the law was his authority and that they could go up stairs and read the ordinance under which Mr. Robertson was elected.

Yesterday the News came out and said:

The charter gives the mayor the right to fill vacancies in certain offices at interim, but nowhere does he have the authority arbitrarily to declare vacant an office. A vacancy can be created by death or resignation, but an officer can only be ousted from an office by due process of law. Notwithstanding this, the mayor has assumed arbitrarily to remove Mr. J. E. Robertson from the office of city printer and appoint in his stead Mr. J. R. Lemmon who established the Daily Leader last Tuesday. Now Mr. Robertson has not resigned, nor has he died, so the council has not declared the office vacant. Why, therefore, does the mayor assume to perform the duties of mayor and council all in one? There may be some investigation of the matter.

This morning Mayor Lang said that Mr. Robertson had become disqualified to hold the office of public printer, as he is neither the publisher nor the manager of a daily paper in Paducah, which the ordinance says the public printer shall be. Mr. Robertson has stock in the News, but is not its publisher and not its manager. If Mr. Robertson is neither publisher nor manager, he has incurred disability to hold the office, and section 44 of the statutes says, relative to the powers of the mayor:

"The mayor shall have the power to make pro tempore appointments to fill temporary vacancies occasioned by sickness, absence or other disability of any officer, except councilmen, and to suspend any city officer, except councilmen, for misconduct or neglect of duty, reporting his action, with his reasons therefor, in writing, to the next regular meeting of the common council, by whom final action shall be taken."

AFTER 50 YEARS.

Mr. T. Murphy, who lives two and a half miles south of Paducah near the I. C. railroad, was in the city today with a relic of the late unpleasantness which was quite a curiosity. While plowing some days ago he uncovered a three and a half pound grape shot which bore evidence of long burial. He was unable to account for the presence of the shot where he found it, and brought it to the city to exhibit and make some inquiry in the line of solution. Some old citizens were talked with and there was but one conclusion, and that was that the shot was fired from one of the fort guns in one of the raids on the city during the years of the late war, and this is no doubt about the fact. There were several very large guns in the fort and they were always loaded with a large ball and several small shot. There are some people here now who were in the fort and know the character of the shot used in them. Mr. Bob McMahon, the well known old blacksmith, who was for some time a guard at the fort, said the shot Mr. Murphy had was sure it was fired from one of the guns, as many such shot were used in them.

LOST DAUGHTER

Mrs. Pigue Here From Ballard County Today.

Her Adopted Daughter Left Home Mysteriously Yesterday Morning.

Mrs. Francis Pigue, of Hazlewood, Ballard county, came in this morning in search of her adopted daughter, Lena Artridge, who left home mysteriously yesterday morning and has not been seen since.

The Pigue own a store at Oscar, Ballard county, and Mrs. Pigue went to the store yesterday, while Mr. Pigue went to Cairo, leaving the girl and another child at the house with a colored woman. The girl is about 14 years old, and about noon she gathered her clothes and some of her mother's and told the colored woman that she was coming to Paducah, because Mrs. Pigue had threatened to whip her if she didn't find some goose, and she had not yet found the goose. The woman attempted to dissuade her from her purpose, but to no avail. She left walking, and that was the last seen of her.

It is thought possible that she left with a man of the neighborhood with whom she was infatuated. She was taken from an orphan's asylum in Louisville by Mrs. Pigue, and it is said her mother formerly resided here, and was Emma Belmont. She always claimed to have a grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Wagner, in the city, but none of these Mrs. Pigue could locate today. She reported the elopement to the police, who searched in vain for the girl all day.

LABORER'S CONDITION.

It is Reported as Very Favorable Today—Another Suspect.

RENNES, France, Aug. 19.—Another individual who is alleged to have been the man who shot Laborer has been brought to Rennes. He was drunk when arrested. The condition of Laborer today is highly satisfactory. The patient is improving steadily.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Rennes dispatches say Laborer's physicians will allow him to attend the Dreyfus court-martial Monday. It is feared that unless his ability to be allowed to argue the trial is rejected he will suffer a relapse.

LIBERAL DONATION.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—President McKinley has donated $250 for the relief of the Porto Rican sufferers.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

DEKERVILLE, Mich., Aug. 19.—Fifty years ago Alexander Parker, then a young man, living with a wife and daughter in Scotland, came alone to America to seek his fortune. Mrs. Parker would not leave Scotland. Now he returns to his native country and the wife has not been seen for half a century. He left here Wednesday, and sailed Thursday.

PLAQUE DISAPPEARING.

BRUSSELS, Bel., Aug. 19.—The banks here are receiving large deposits from French capitalists because of the financial insecurity in France which must exist until the Dreyfus trial is settled.

TO GO TO MANILA.

WASHINGTON, August 19.—Secretary Root today issued orders directing the Twenty-seventh, Thirty-first and Thirty-fourth volunteers to proceed to San Francisco immediately. They will sail for Manila when transports are provided.

LINEMAN SHOCKED.

Lineman Patterson, of the Tennessee Telephone company, had a close call this afternoon while at work up on Sixth street. He was packing a coil of wire around his head, one end of which was attached to a pole. In moving along the wire came in contact with a trolley wire and he was knocked down. He shouted for help and another lineman ran and cut the wire. He was soon all right again.

THE CZAR

Will Have to Submit to an Operation for Epilepsy.

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, August 19.—It is learned on high authority that the czar is again suffering from epilepsy and an operation is necessary. The czar contracted the disease while traveling around the world with the "Brown Prince of Greece."

"Is your father at home?" asked a caller.

"What is your name, please?" inquired the little girl.

"Just tell him it is his old friend. B. H."

"Then I reckon he ain't at home. I heard him tell mamma if any bill came he wasn't at home."—Little Falls Transcript.

The most enjoyable trip imaginable is one to Chicago in the latter part of August. You can make the trip cheaply by leaving here Aug. 22 on the Illinois Central's great excursion.

QUOTA NEARLY FULL.

Only 4,000 More Recruits Remain for Subsequent Call.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—With the ten additional regiments of volunteers, orders for the organization of which were issued today, twenty of the twenty-four regiments authorized by congress as comprising the provisional army of 35,000 will be complete. When these additional regiments have secured their full complements of 1,200 each, and the accompanying hospital corps have been recruited, slightly more than 30,000 of the volunteers will have been enlisted. This will leave some thing more than 4,000 yet available under a subsequent call, if the president sees fit to utilize the full army strength authorized by congress.

The order for recruiting the last four regiments will not be issued for some weeks. That this force ultimately will be called out, however, there is small doubt.

BLIZZARD SUED.

His Wife Wants a Divorce From Him—Suspended to Be in Illinois.

Mrs. Cora Blizard today filed suit in the circuit court against her husband, George Blizard, for divorce and the custody of their child. They separated some time ago, and day before yesterday he went to their home near Massac and abducted the child, and is supposed to have come to the city with it. He was yesterday warranted before Justice Winchester on a charge of carrying concealed a pistol, and officers went to Illinois, where he is supposed to have gone, in search of him, but he could not be found.

They hope to capture him, however, as his wife is very anxious to get possession of the child again.

THE OHIO FALLS.

Louisville Man Has a Device For Utilizing the Water Power.

Louisville Times: "The immense water power in the Falls is at last to be utilized. A Louisville man has invented a simple contrivance whereby the 200,000 horse power now going to waste can be harnessed and used for operating electric or other motors. Letters patent have been taken out by the inventor, and a number of capitalists who have thoroughly examined a model of the contrivance are confident that it will do all that is claimed for it. The invention consists of a siphon combined with a turbine. It is so simple that it is a wonder no one thought of it before. Dr. Hugh W. Graham, of 117 East Jacob street, is the inventor, and he secured his patent only a few months ago. Speaking of 'I have observed the immense power of the water passing over the Ohio Falls and conceived the idea of a combination of the turbine and siphon to be operated around government dams and log ledge water ways. After a careful study of physics I applied for and received letters patent for the combination, and after further investigation among civil engineers and parties of practical experience it was pronounced practicable, these opinions being augmented by the thorough working of a model in which a turbine was actuated under a twenty-five-foot head in the crown of a fifteen foot siphon. My invention Dr. Graham says:

"The advantages of this mode of gathering power are cheapness of construction, ease of control and convenience in delivering power to desirable points. Louisville has an immense water power passing in front of her (estimated at 200,000 horse-power), and if a goodly proportion of this power can be harnessed it is easy to see the advantages she and all the Falls cities will derive from a cheap power in the promotion of many manufacturing enterprises."

The inventor has a model working in this city now and all who have seen it pronounce it a success.

Caller—I have here several bills which are long overdue and—Hardup (desperately)—I am sorry to say that our cashier is out today.

Caller—Oh, well, it doesn't make much difference, I'll call and pay them at some future date. Good day, sir.—Philadelphia Record.

To Be Trusted.

"Don't you think the American masses can be trusted to think out problems for themselves and arrive at sensible conclusions?" "There can't be any doubt of it," said the officeholder, "so far as the American masses in my own locality are concerned. They have been voting for me for years."—Washington Star.

Convincing Argument.

"What was your father whipping you for last night?" asked one small boy of another. "Oh," replied the other, "we had an argument about my Sunday school lesson, and he was proving to me that the whole actually did swallow Jonah."—Troy Times.

World's Consumption of Coffee.

The consumption of coffee the world over is growing rapidly. The average annual consumption in the decade 1870 to 1880 was 792,000,000 pounds. In the next decade it was 1,320,000,000. Last year it was 1,580,000,000.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19, 1899.

If it is the purpose of the Goebel managers to attempt to fool the people they should keep Judge Goebel night at the helm. His speech here was the work of a persuasive and most artful dodger and as susceptible to two constructions as it was to use. The talk struck Judge Redwine as one of the shrewdest he had heard in the canvass and he was free to say so, going so far as to say it was a better speech than any he had ever heard Goebel make.

It is clear the judge had but one idea in his mind—for the speech left only one idea in any man's mind—and that was that the speech was marked for the little it contained calculated to prove a drawback or to set the people to any deep thinking, and therefore was not injurious if it did no good.

The Lexington convention laid claim to the roster as the Democratic emblem. Will the body make a fight to justify its claim? If this is to be the game let time be called without delay. The people must have excitement, you know.

The imbibition of the editorial sentiment of the Louisville Courier-Journal by the correspondents and news writers of that journal indicates a wonderful readiness of assimilation, or the editing of contributions to an alarming degree at the desk of Marce Henry.

Judge Redwine wherever he goes continues to make his bombastic "I did it and now what are you going to do about it?" speeches. He is clearly the boldest buccaneer in the Goebel gang and thinks he is all the push. The people who see and hear the judge are afterward better able to appreciate the daring with which he ruled and ruined the Louisville convention.

"For God's sake vote the regular Democratic tickets," screams the leather lungs of Jo Blackburn and no steel bellows of W. J. Bryan squawk out the same refrain. It means nothing but "For God's sake don't desert me."

The ticket is all right, but the platform is as wrong as that at Chicago in '96, says Henry Watterson, but he doesn't mean for that assen-sembly to apply to the China school book bill and Courier-Journal steal there might be in it, but to all the endorsement of Bryan and Blackburn it means what it says and yet those flatulent bladders are pleased till they lose sight of all but one thing and Marce

Henry laughs and whoops at the readiness with which his bait is taken and the cork pulled under.

Is it true that the Goebelites can and will be allowed to steal the election in November?

Piquart's testimony in the Dreyfus case proves there is still some honor left in the army of France. The law has not yet been told relative to this intrigue and now that the ice has been broken the facts may all come out. The rascals have clary either fallen out or become frightened and are going to hunt cover and a place of safety.

It is idle to talk or think about either faction of the Democratic party withdrawing from the contest for the sake of harmony. The Goebelites think they have might on their side and the Brownites know they have right on theirs, and thus the matter stands now and will stand up to the election in November. The proposition will go for naught.

It sounds like a canard, but it is quite possible that the anti-expansionists may place a presidential ticket in the field next year. Fools oft break in where wise men fear to tread.

Bryan warns Democrats not to rely too strongly on the anti-trust issue.

This is where he is wise. Many of the trusts are collapsing through the operation of natural causes. Others of them will break up before the national conventions meet next year.

Moreover, the real enemies of the trusts are the Republicans, and not the Democrats.

A more vigorous and honest declaration against the trusts will be formulated by the Republican convention in 1900 than the Democrats can frame.

No votes on the trust issue can be made by the Democratic party.

Only 11 per cent of the colored population of Cuba is said to be able to read and write. The coming census will be especially valuable in showing the degree of illiteracy in the island.

The News put up the Brown ticket yesterday but said nary a word.

A cause worth supporting at all is worth shouting for. The News has the privilege to get up on its hind legs and make the welkin ring and should not hesitate to do so, for its cause is a good one.

The Goebelites are about to have conspicuous fits about the News' course in the present gubernatorial contest. The Sun would like to know just for the fun of it, how many of these same howling Goebelites were giving the News any kind of a healthy support—not getting more than value received for their money. The follow who turns the grind stone has some right to say how the axe should be sharpened, but the fellow who only stands by and furnishes the wind work has only a shut up coming to him, for talk is cheap and supports not even a politician.

Judge Redwine's appearance on the rostrum in Goebel's behalf is proving to the Democrats like a red rag to a bull. They are roaring mad and some are calling on the party leaders to send the judge home. The Elizabethtown News is pointed in this demand and says the judge as a speaker is an insult to the Democrats whenever he appears, and especially to the Hardittes in the late canvass.

There are other papers making a similar but not so bold a demand, the Madisonville Hustler for instance.

Judge Redwine is no more an insult to Democracy, or should not be, than the man or men who accepted the swag of the convention in which he was only a tool. "Tara, Judge, he to the mountains and privacy. The party which used you is now preparing to make you a scapegoat, but their indignation comes too late.

There is a steady democratic yell going up all over the state for Brown for governor. The old war horse is undoubtedly in the saddle, booted and spurred. The yellers regard him as their Moses to lead them out of the political wilderness into which the Goebelites lead or drove them, and they see the star of hope arising with the coming November shades.

And the yell will grow louder as the election approaches.

What is said to be Goebel's Mayfield speech is being sent all over</

Observations ...at Random.

"If there is any thing in the way the corn husks grow," remarked a farmer yesterday morning, "we are certainly going to have a cold winter this year.
I have noticed that they are very thick on the ear, and this was the case last summer, also. I guess most of us poor fellows will hope there is nothing in signs, this time, at least. We had enough experience last year."

Mrs. Dr. Truscott, a daughter of County Judge Tully, had an experience a few days ago that she will always remember. She was formerly Miss Maria Tully, of this city, and went from here to Texas with her husband. After a residence there, they went to Oklahoma, where they now reside.

A few months ago a lady from the old home of the family, in Texas, who was ill, went out to Dr. Truscott's for treatment, and boarded at his house. He treated her with promising success, and finally she was well enough to return home, and was to have gone the day after the experience of Mrs. Truscott. There was a singing school or some sort of an entertainment in the neighborhood, and Mrs. Truscott and the Texas lady were in the crowd. During festivities someone struck up a dance, and a number of couples began gliding over the floor.
Finally the Texas lady and Mrs. Truscott started off in a waltz, when the former without the slightest warning, fell dead in Mrs. Truscott's arms.

There was great excitement over the woman's sudden death, which proved to have been from heart failure. Judge Tully received the intelligence of the tragic end of his daughter's friend a day or two ago in a letter.
It is not often that a circus can be started without money, but two Paducah men enjoy the distinction of having done that very thing. It didn't require a thing but gall. Neither of the men had any money, but they expected to make a bundle of it. True, they didn't get any farther than the sheriff's office, but that was rather than many people could have gotten.

The story is worth telling. The gentlemen who started a circus without money and without price both live here, and had had little or no experience. Out at La Belle park there had been for sometime an old tent, which was bought at a bargain by Manager Boatwick of La Belle park, last season. When he left Paducah he disposed of the tent to the street car company, or park management, and this summer, having no use for it, it was given to one of the men for two weeks performance at La Belle park.
Tent equipped with a tent, they began scrapping up enough lumber to build scaffolds. Some of it they bought by their friends standing good for it, and at once they advertised in a New York dramatic paper for performers and bands. In a few days band men began to arrive, and in a remarkably brief interval of time they had an excellent band and complement of performers. A man came in with a whole raft of ponies and dogs and a flourish, and was able to give a whole show in itself. He came all the way from Clarksville, and thought he was going to get a soft thing. Some of the band men were also performers and acrobats, and the circus set up its little tent and began to do business.
It did not seem to prosper, however, and the creditors began to press harsher and harder, until finally one by one the performers and acrobats, who the tent being attached and taken possession of by the sheriff a few days ago. Those of the band who could have returned home, sadder but wiser musicians, and they all agreed, before they took their departure, that it was the first time in the annals of things historic and heroic, that a circus was ever started on the road without a dollar. And they hope it will be the last time.

A peculiar request was made of Justice Little yesterday morning. A man went to him and wanted to gardener the dead body of William Jones, who was killed on the 4th. He said Jones owed him, and while it was contrary to his policy to guarantee a man, he had to do it in this case. The justice informed him that he never heard of a dead man being garnished, and didn't care to establish the precedent of issuing garnishment papers against a dead man. The gentleman was dissatisfied, but was told he could get his money by applying to the administrator of the estate, when the case is appointed.

"Several Paducah people will go to Smithland next week to drink water," remarks today's Register. Well, that's a remarkable mission. We have a whole river full of water here, and it will not be discerned at first glance, perhaps, why the Paducah people should go so far just to drink water. If it were something else than water there might be some reason in it.

A ticket agent has a good many things to contend with, but about the most vexatious of them ever came to pass at Union Depot Agent Warfield's office occurred yesterday. He received an order from a lawyer here in town last requesting, half ordering, a complete list of the destination of every passenger who bought a ticket yesterday, saying that he was trying to intercept a criminal. The agent was overcome at the gall displayed to such an extent that he was unable to tabulate the list.

For some unknown reason, there is a great demand for barbers in many places, especially the smaller towns.
"I have made a good many towns late," remarked a drummer at the Palmer today, "and I find a general complaint because barbers cannot be found. I don't know why it is, but a barber kept me that there had been a scarcity of them for the past year, and that he supposed it was because the business was not a good paying one in so many places that barbers were abandoning the trade

LITERARY CHATS.

One finds a variety of choice matter in Pearson's Magazine for August.
"Nell Gwyn, Comedienne," by Frankfort Moore, is the second of a number of articles on the same subject. So also is "The Adventures of Sir John Mannion," by Louis Tracy. "Royalty Incognito," "The Burning of the Wilful Mary," "The Work of the British Royal Engineers, How to Rescue the Drowning," are all good. An article of special interest to Kentuckians is one about Miss End Yan-dell and her work. The illustrations are a decided feature of Pearson's.

Edwin Markham's first edition, "The Man With the Hoe," and other poems," was exhausted within three weeks.
Accordingly it has the approval of the public and another edition is to shortly appear from the press of Doubleday and McClure Co. From competent critics come warm words of praise for the author and his work. Indeed, "The Man With the Hoe" has already created quite a furor.

Stanzas of a recent quatrain story,
"St. Patrick, The Saviors," by August McClure," appears in the August Mc-Clure's, and who has recently become widely known through his stories of Irish peasant life, has been engaged by the McClure Co. for a series of readings. They will doubtless attract considerable attention, and throw some light on an entirely new subject.
In many respects this is a strange world. It is peopled and restless and needs continual change. Particularly in this regard literature. Those things which might seem to the author to have the least merit are the most readily accepted or visa versa.
This you will call a matter of taste or judgment. Not so with the public.
Those things that often have the least seeming charm, and are accepted by the publisher most reluctantly, have the greatest sale. On the contrary those works which in the eyes of both author and publisher, possess more than ordinary merit, are passed by with a glance. Let no author despair.
Who can say what morning he will awake to find his name upon every one's lips? This is a mystery that is truly beyond solving. The object is to please the public, how to do it is the mystery.

"Through Laurel Time," by Anna Sprague Packard, which appears in the August 17th issue of The Youth's Companion, is a story that moves one to believe there are in the world some good, kind souls. It also reminds one that there are those about us continually who need our kindness and trust. "Teaching in Alaska," by Dr.
Sheldon Jackson, "When Hepsy Led the Band," by James H. Smith, and "Behind the Window," by E. W.
Frentz, are all worthy of mention.
This much can be said of it, that the matter is always of a high class.

A writer should possess sufficient modesty to keep within bounds, but he should not stand back and let his neighbor take the lead, just because he possesses more forwardness. To say that if a writer does good work he needs no further introduction, is in many ways, a mistake. How shall one know that it is good work unless one reads; and how many read the writings of an unknown author and declare them good? An author must be advertised, just like an article, and if he is too modest to permit it or aid in so doing, he will suffer, most likely, for a long time in obscurity.
One need not be forward but he must make himself heard by his own voice, to attract attention.

The Saturday Evening Post, for today contains much that is calculated to amuse and instruct the reader.
"Famous Orators I Have Known," by Major J. B. Pond, is a paper of merit.
"Royal Yachts," by Duncan Curry, is also full of interest. One must compliment the editors upon their choice make up of this journal.

Much as Paul Laurence Dunbar, the colored poet, has been lauded by some of our critics, the writer has seen nothing so far that portends of unusual merit. His poem, "When Banjo Sings," in the current Saturday Evening Post, certainly bears no signs of greatness.
We do not wish to speak disparagingly of the efforts of anyone, but unless a man does prove himself a genius, who shall call him one?

CARS STOPPED

Because Thieves Stole the Cairo, Ill., Trolley Wires.
CAIRO, Ill., Aug. 19.—The Egypt Electric Company was unable to operate a part of its line yesterday morning, owing to the fact that about a quarter of a mile of its trolley wire was stolen during the night.
A tool car was broken into. The vandals were evidently electricians.

LIVING MOUNTAIN.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 19.— A monster in flesh appeared in a well known haberdasher's establishment here and left his orders for two silk shirts, with puff bosoms, each requiring 14 yards of silk in the manufacture. Two men and two tapes were necessary in taking his measure.
His throat measured 21 inches; his chest was 63 inches, and he was three inches larger around the waist than his height, which is 5 feet 8 1/2 inches. He measured 43 inches across the chest, with 11 inches at the wristband. The man was Philip Keigh, a substantial farmer of Hendricks county, and for years a politician of considerable influence in his neighborhood.

His weight is slightly in excess of 600 pounds, and when he sits in an ordinary chair 900 pounds of him hang over the edges.

STORY OF TWINS.

MIDDLETOWN, Ky., Aug. 19.— At Casey, Morgan county, there are two merchants known under the firm name of Caudle Bros. They are twins and so much alike that they can hardly be distinguished apart.
They married twin sisters, and each has twin girls babies, which so much in danger of getting the children resemble each other that they are changed almost daily.

ENGINE EXPLODES.

TAMPAICO, Tex., Aug. 19.—The explosion of the boiler of a locomotive on the Mexican Central railroad killed seven men and three others were fatally injured. The locomotive was standing on the side track at Cardenas when the explosion occurred.

A FOUL FEMALE.

She Was Fined $20 and Costs---Dave Cole Fined.

Jennie Webb is the name of a foul mouthed female who yesterday cre-ated a disturbance near Ninth and Washington streets. She was ar-rested by Officer Gray, and on her way to the city hall filled the atmo-sphere with such profanity and in-olent language that the officer was greatly humiliated, especially as she took a peculiar delight in giving vent to her feelings whenever she passed any respectable ladies. The officer was powerless, and the incident only emphasized the growing demand for a "hoodlum" wagon. She was fined $20 and costs in the police court this morning, and said it was her first offense. She started off pretty badly. Dave Cole, colored, for striking Mark Lydon, was fined $5 and costs.

Officer George Colyer Appointed by Mayor Lang.

THE STREET FAIR.

Meeting Held Yesterday and An- other to Be Held Wednesday.

Yesterday afternoon there was a meeting in the Leech Building of those interested in the street fair project, and committees were ap-pointed to confer with the business men and get them interested in it. A prominent agitator of the project stated this morning that the prin-cipal thing to do was to get sub-stantial business men interested in it, and its success would then be as-sured.

Another meeting will be held at the city hall Wednesday night, at which a permanent chairman and other officers will be elected. It is hoped to have definite plans shaped by that time.
